

“Cara has provided strong, consistent leadership for Rogers County Cherokees as well as the entire Cherokee Nation.”

Brad Carson
Former U.S. Congressman

“Cara Cowan Watts has served District 7 the past four years with a resolve that is highly commendable. She has served with integrity, honesty and dependability.”

Curt Tuggle
President/CEO
Holloway Wire Rope

Cara Cowan Watts

Re-Elect

CARA
COWAN WATTS

Cherokee Nation Tribal Council

District 7 - Will Rogers

Cara Cowan Watts is a dedicated, proven Tribal Council and community leader. She effectively represents a new generation of Cherokee leaders - smart, focused and a strong advocate for Cherokee people. She sits on all eight of the Cherokee Nation Tribal Council standing committees. As an engineer and past Secretary of the national organization for Indian engineers (AISES), she brings a focus on education and technology to the Tribal Council. Cara is committed to helping meet the needs of Cherokee people today and into the future. Among Cara's numerous accomplishments during her term she has helped build a new community building for Rogers County Cherokees, advocated for the reform of T.E.R.O. laws and established a communications network to keep citizens informed and up to date on Cherokee issues.

P.O. Box 2922 ■ Claremore, OK 74018

(918) 341-3753 ■ cara@caracowan.com ■ www.caracowan.com

PAID FOR BY CITIZENS TO RE-ELECT CARA COWAN WATTS